

Ogeechee Technical College Holds Valentine Dessert Reception

On February 14th Ogeechee Technical College faculty and staff got into the Valentine Day spirit by having a “bring your favorite dessert” Valentine reception. Faculty and staff gathered in the multi-purpose room of the Occupational Studies Building on campus to network with each other while enjoying some delicious desserts and soft drinks.

Dr. Dawn Cartee, president of OTC, stressed the importance of faculty and staff having some time to visit with each other in a more casual setting than normally experienced at work. “We have a diverse group of employees who are located all over campus, and often they do not have the opportunity to visit with each other at work,” stated Dr. Cartee. “This event gave everyone a chance to catch up on what everyone else is doing, while enjoying some great Valentine treats,” she further stated.

Table decorations and background music completed the atmosphere for the reception. Everyone had the chance to enjoy some sweet treats and fellowship, some showing off their own culinary talents with home-made goodies, while others opted to exercise their shopping skills in selecting store-bought favorites—either way, the recipients of the delicacies were appreciative. A great follow-up to the event was the delivery of a selection of the treats to the local battered women’s shelter. “How better to end a time of camaraderie than doing something to help those less fortunate?” asked Dr. Cartee. Hopefully the event will be an annual affair.
